In God We Trust?

Is our economy connected to our motto engraved on our money?

In what way do the majority of our peoples trust in God as their Source? Turn to any news program and stock market report, and it is apparent that America is living in fear and anxiety. Worry over the numbers of those in the unemployment lines and the homeless is a constant reminder.

“Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.” There is a movement in this country to take our motto “In God We Trust” off the currency. Witness the schools after we took Christ out of our educational system, and the spiral downward. Does our nation have to hit rock bottom like an alcoholic? Were we so drunken on our success that we have forgotten what our founding fathers fought so hard to preserve?

The answer is a resounding “YES!”

There are Christians who are being mobilized to witness to America the way of Jesus Christ, and to show us the way back to Our Father; not a message of legalism, but the unmerited favor of God's Grace.

There is hope to those who will listen!

“America, America, God shed his grace on thee” The author of “America the Beautiful” was inspired by God to pen these words. It is only by His grace that America has been so prosperous. Let's trust in God as our Source, and get back to-“In God We Trust.”
