Children

There are hungry children all over the world. Many organizations in this nation are actively feeding children in foreign lands and this is commendable. However, there are children in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave that go to bed hungry every night. They go to the cupboard, only to find it bare. These children have been neglected, not only in the present economic situation, but they have always been with us.

Imagine the heartache of a parent sending his or her child to school with no breakfast. They do not do well on an empty stomach. Of course there are programs to feed children in school, and we thank God for it. All parents below the poverty line should take advantage of this.

There are organizations in this nation that are dedicated to feeding our hungry children. We should include them in our charitable works. For Jesus said we would be judged on: feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, giving a cup of water, visiting those that are sick or in prison.

We all should be mindful of those less blessed than us. Their problems are our responsibility. These words were spoken by our Lord and Savior in the parable of the Good Samaritan. It was his answer to the question he was asked, "Who is my neighbor?" Our hungry children are our neighbors.

What will be our answer?
